

Third graders can explore the world of nonfiction. Reading three books in six different categories (biography, social sciences, sciences, technology, poetry, and history/geography) plus seven books in whichever category they like, your child can complete the True 25 Challenge. Simply read a book and record it on your paper log and/or redeem the corresponding badge in Beanstack after reading the designated number of books in each category. This challenge may be completed the June before third grade through the end of the school year.
